ASSITED SUICIDE UPDATE from the Catholic Union of Great Britain: The Assisted Suicide bill is back after Lauren Edwards MP (Lab) Rochester and Strood decided to use her second place in the Private Members' Bill ballot to re-introduce Kim Leadbeater's bill from the last Parliamentary Session. A debate and vote in the Commons is scheduled for 11th September. During the in-depth and essential scrutiny of the Bill in the previous Parliamentary Session there were warnings from a number of bodies, including Royal Colleges, the Equality and Human Rights Commission, the Former Chief Executive of NHS England and most critically, people with disabilities. You may want to consider asking to meet with your MP in person, or writing to them, about any aspect of the proposed legislation that you think is not safe. You can listen to any of the debates that have taken place so far by searching proceedings in Hansard and identifying issues that concern you. Archbishop John Sherrington, Lead Bishop for Life Issues, is calling on people of goodwill to join in work and prayer to prevent this flawed bill from succeeding. Richard Collyer-Hamlin, Chair, Catholic Union of Great Britain.

DEFEND NHS STAFF CONSCIENCE RIGHTS: Any new assisted suicide law would likely pressure NHS staff to be involved in some way and offer even less protection to institutions like hospices. You can help protect healthcare workers and hospices by signing the Bios Centre online petition. It calls on Health Secretary, Wes Streeting, to protect conscientious objection rights for religious and personal beliefs. Sign the petition at Petition on Conscience Protection - Bios Centre
